

Taylor County
Justice of the Peace

Per Government Code 81.01, "The Taylor County Justice of the Peace Office cannot give advice or give any service requiring the use of legal skill or knowledge such as providing or preparing any legal document or court document". You may either contact an attorney or do your own research to conduct legal matters. If you need legal advice and do not want to hire an attorney, you can utilize the following sources:

Legal Aide of West Texas: 500 Chestnut Suite 901 (located in the Enterprise Building)
325-677-8591

The Law Library located on the 3rd floor of the new Courthouse

Online: www.texaslawhelp.org

Office supply businesses usually carry a variety of legal forms. Internet searches can provide others.

If you would like to hire an attorney, but need help in finding one, please call the Texas State Bar Lawyer Referral at 1-800-204-2222.

If you choose to prepare your own legal forms, please be aware that this office cannot tell you if you completed them legally correct. Documentations to be filed in Official Public Records will be recorded if they meet State of Texas legal recording requirements. All documents for court of judicial process will be placed in the case file for the Judge's consideration.
