TAYLOR COUNTY REDISTRICTING VOTING PRECINCT BOUNDARY CHANGES

The Taylor County Commissioners' Court approved and adopted new 10-year boundaries for voter precincts in Taylor County. The new boundaries are based on population changes identified by the 2020 U. S. Census.

New boundary changes are as follows:

Existing precinct 401 is moved and combined with precinct 203.

A portion of precinct 203, north of I-20, is moved to precinct 204.

A portion of precinct 404 is moved to precinct 201.

A portion of the northwest corner of precinct 306, west of Buffalo Gap Road, is moved to precinct 304.

Another portion of precinct 306, east of Buffalo Gap Road, west of Fairway Oaks Blvd. and north of Antilley Road, is moved to precinct 305.

The eastern portion of precinct 306, east of Maple Street to Oldham Lane is moved into commissioner precinct 4 and renamed as precinct 401.

A very small eastern portion of precinct 306 at Hardison Lane and Oldham Lane is moved to precinct 407.

A portion of precinct 307, east of Buffalo Gap Road following the city boundary south of Beltway South is moved to precinct 306.

A small portion of precinct 408 is moved to precinct 407.

Another portion of precinct 408, north of S FM 707 and FM 1750 is moved to the new precinct 401.

The northern portion of precinct 407, west of Loop 322, is split and moved to precinct 402 and 403.
